REDDING NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST TO OUR READERS

Redding, May 6.—By the will of the late John Todd, which was opened last Saturday, cash bequests are made to the amount of $25,000 and the life use of all the remainder of the estate is given Arthur J. Todd, adopted son of the testator. The cash bequests are as follows: To the Center Methodist church and the Long Ridge Methodist church, $2,000 each in trust; to Charles Burr Todd, the life use of $2,000, the legacy upon his decease to be equally divided among his brother and two sisters or their heirs; to Henry E. Todd of Meriden, $5,000; to Mrs. E. T. Andrews of Bethel and to Mrs. Candee of Kansas, $2,000 each. All these individual legatees are children of the late Seth Todd, brother of the testator. To the widow is given $10,000 and all the household effects and also the life use of the homestead. Upon her decease the homestead becomes the property of John Todd, son of Arthur J. Todd, in accordance with the terms of a deed executed just before the testator's death. The will sets forth that the testamentary provision made for the widow is in lieu of dower. To Arthur J. Todd is given all the real estate of the testator upon his death. He is given permission to cut any or all the trees upon the land belonging to the estate. The executors, who are Alanson Osborn, the widow, and Arthur J. Todd, are allowed three per cent. on which to make payment of the cash bequests. Judge Nickerson has appointed Wm. H. Hill and W. E. Hearn as appraisers upon the estate, one of which is a matter of widely varying conjectures. It might be expected that the widow or the adopted son would have an approximate idea of its value, but beyond a feeling of certainty that it will total not less than $100,000 they are without knowledge upon which to base an opinion. Regarding the extent of his worldly possessions the late Mr. Todd took no one into his confidence.

Joseph Tomlinson of Chicago, who last week bought the 150 acre Wood farm at Hoyt's Hill in Bethel, has written D. S. Sanford asking him to see that the old house on the place be immediately put in repair as he expects to occupy it the latter part of the summer. Plans are being prepared for a fine residence of a modern and attractive style which the new owner will soon erect on the property. It is his intention to retain possession of the entire tract and carry on farming instead of parcelling out and selling a portion as some have inferred he would do. Referring to the comments made on Mr. Tomlinson's choice of a location in Bethel after he had expressed such high admiration for Redding's advantages, W. C. Sanford said yesterday: "Mr. Tomlinson's intention to include in what was known as the Redding Land Plan desirable tracts in the adjoining towns and Hoyt's Hill was one of the realties which he had in view as he was much impressed with it from the first. The property being in the market he hastened to buy it. For several years Mr. Wood has had a standing offer of $10,000 for the farm and not long ago he refused another offer of $12,500. The property was brought in an annual rental of $500. Forty cows were kept on it."

In a letter to the selectmen Hal Sanford has formulated his conditions relative to a new fence to partly enclose his eight acre lot on the Ridge in replacement of the unsatisfactory one already put up by the town. He demands first that the remaining section of stone wall on the east side be removed and that the bottom strand along the rest of the line be cleared out. Second, that there be built a new fence of eight foot posts to be set three feet in the ground and strung with four lengths of plain wire and a top length of barbed wire. His demands will probably be complied with.

William Jennings, a respected resident of Pleasant Valley, died at his home there on Saturday night, aged 74 years. He had been poor health for several years. Funeral services were held at the residence Wednesday noon and interment was in Easton.

Dr. Deming, who bought the Francis Jellison place on the west side two years ago, has purchased ten acres adjoining which was part of the Jerry Jones property. The transaction was negotiated by Harry Lounsbury.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Sanford last Saturday forenoon, but lived only a few hours. The Sanford agency reports that within the past few days a number of out of town parties have been here upon view to acquire more estate. Sales are expected as a result of their inquiry and inspection.

Redding Grange at this week's meeting conferred the first and second degrees upon Mr. and Mrs. John Muenich. They and three other candidates will receive the two higher degrees at the next meeting.

Mark Twain has arranged for the building of an addition to his barn so as to afford room for two or three horses. He has heretofore done his riding out with hired teams, but now intends to keep horses and a coachman.

The old timers played their second game with the Sanford School Tuesday afternoon and won by a score of 12 to 9, a result which did not fill them with exultant pride. In a game with the Bethel High last week the Sanfords won, 9 to 5.

With a newly purchased horse D. S. Sanford and wife made a 90 mile drive from Westfield, Mass., to the Ridge last week, passing through Simsbury, Farmington and Newtown, and being a little more than two days on the way.

Miss Jean Clemens, who has been for some time a semi-invalid, is now with her father at Innocence-at-Home, much improved in health.

The walls of the S. C. Shaw house are up, ready for the roof, and the barn is near completion.

Miss Pearl Warner and Lew Warner are about recovered from an attack of scarlet fever.

Miss Gregory, who has for several months been assisting in the care of Mrs. Sarah Osborn, has taken an engagement in Wilton.

Redding, May 6.—The dedication at the Center Methodist church on Sunday for the first time since his attack of illness several weeks ago.

AN OVATION FOR W. S. HART

Westport, in a Body, to Greet Hero of "The Virginian," at Smith's Theatre Saturday Night.

It really seems as if all Westport was coming to Bridgeport Saturday evening to attend the performance of "The Virginian," at Smith's theatre. One big party engaged 40 seats early yesterday morning, when they were placed on sale, and another of 12, shortly after, obtained a block of seats. All day long, theatre parties, of all sizes, made demands for seats, until it began to look as if the town was bent upon making it a holiday, and spending it at Smith's theatre. During the day yesterday fully 200 seats were sold to residents of Westport alone. Besides the very flattering sale to our own townspeople.

The reason for Westport's activity for this particular production and night is explained by the fact that W. S. Hart, who plays the title role in "The Virginian," is a summer resident in Westport, and a great favorite among the people of that town. He has a host of friends there, who take this method of demonstrating their pleasure in being afforded an opportunity of seeing him on the stage, and of renewing old acquaintance. There will be "something doing" Saturday evening when Mr. Hart makes his first appearance in the play.

The Smartest Suits.

Young men who follow the trend of fashion in dress, and what young man does not, have learned by actual experience that the style and fit and general dress characteristics of the "Varsity Suits," sold by Meigs & Co., are exactly what they want in their clothes. "Varsity" models have a perfection of fit never before achieved in ready-to-wear clothing. The shoulders and cuffs fit very snug and smooth, and show the results of the most skilled hand-tailoring work. The design of Varsity models has a swing and go to it that other makers of clothing reach after in vain. This is not to be wondered at, however, when it is learned that "Varsity Suits" are designed by an artist who receives the highest salary of any designer of styles in this country. In addition these celebrated suits come in such a wide range of choice colors and exclusive patterns that the taste of the most particular and fussy young fellow is bound to be met. It is safe to say of any young man in town who wears a "Varsity" suit customarily that his Spring Suit is giving him more satisfaction and pleasure than ever before was found in a suit of clothes. See the beautiful "Varsity Suits" at Meigs & Co. before you buy your spring suit. You will find exactly the suit you want. The prices are reasonable.
